Week commencing Saturday 7 January: Sydney Harbour Bridge southern toll plaza precinct upgrade

The NSW Government is funding this upgrade to improve safety, simplify traffic movements and improve bus connections to the city.

 Roads and Maritime Services continued to carry out work in the southern toll plaza precinct this week to remove the existing toll plaza booths. All work is progressing well.

From Saturday 7 January until Saturday 14 January, weather permitting, we will continue work to carefully remove and transport the toll booths from site. We will also be carrying out concrete work, installing drains, new signs to help drivers navigate around the work site, line marking and transporting equipment to and from site. Our work hours are 7am to midnight. Some of this work will be noisy.

Adjustments to existing medians and lane configurations are also expected to made at this time to prepare for the next stage of the project, Stage 1B. The work site will be reduced in size, reopening lanes for commuters to use once again.

We will need up to four shifts from midnight to 7am. Lane closures will be required at this time to allow the crew safe access when carrying out some work located outside the work site. This work cannot be done during the day due to the high volumes of traffic in this area.
