Alexandria to Moore Park – Service investigations from 23 September

The NSW Government is investigating intersection improvements in the Alexandria, Waterloo and Moore Park areas.

Roads and Maritime Services will carry out geotechnical and service investigations at South Dowling Street near Dacey Avenue and along McEvoy Street at Fountain Street, Botany Road and Elizabeth Street and on Lachlan Street near Gadigal Avenue from Monday 23 September. The investigations will involve potholing, boring and trenching to identify underground utility services and to obtain geotechnical information.

How will the work affect you?

There will be some lighting and noise associated with this work. Machinery used may include lighting towers, a concrete saw, core hole drill, generator, vacuum truck, tipper and hand tools. We will do everything we can to minimise the impact, including completing the noisier tasks by midnight.
