Proposed intersection improvements at
Devlin Street, Blaxland Road and Parkes Street, Ryde

March 2018

The NSW Government is funding a proposal as part of its $300 million Urban Roads Pinch Point Program, which aims to reduce congestion and improve travel times on Sydney’s busiest corridors.

Roads and Maritime Services is seeking feedback by 23 March 2018 on proposed intersection improvements at Devlin Street, Blaxland Road and Parkes Street, Ryde.
Proposed intersection improvements at Devlin Street, Blaxland Road and Parkes Street, Ryde

Key
- Green: Proposed medians
- Blue: Proposed additional lane
- Orange: Proposed footpath
- Purple: Maintenance access removal

New raised median
Additional lane
Removal of maintenance access
Removal of bus priority lane
3 continuous lanes on the northbound direction
Currently, motorists experience delays at the Devlin Street, Blaxland Road and Parkes Street intersection. This is particularly the case during peak periods.

The aim of this proposal is to improve traffic flow through the intersection by reducing queue lengths and improving safety.

The proposal includes:

- installing an additional northbound lane from Victoria Road to Blaxland Road
- removal of the existing maintenance access on Devlin Street southbound
- maintaining the existing storage length for the southbound right turn lane to Parkes Street
- installing a raised median on Devlin Street, south of the intersection
- removal of bus priority lane on Devlin Street
- adjusting utilities, street lighting, drainage, signage and road marking
- adjusting driveways and footpaths.

Benefits would include:

- travel time savings for motorists using the intersection, particularly during peak periods
- reduced queue lengths and traffic delays due to a better flow of traffic through the intersection
- improved safety at the intersection, including a reduction in rear-end crashes.
Next steps

We will consider all feedback received before deciding whether to proceed with the proposal.

A consultation report will be prepared summarising the feedback received. This report will be made available on our website.

If you would like to receive the consultation report by email, please sign up on the project web page or contact us directly.

We will keep you updated as the proposal progresses.
